Game Summary:

Team Timeout:

The Revolution gets a much needed win this season, breaking a two game losing streak. After their opening game loss that featured a glaring lack of offense, the Revolution broke out on offense with a balanced attack of six different goal scorers. Perhaps unnoticed during this shift has been the return of Steve Silveira from IR since game one that has played a huge role in changing the makeup of this team, as well as the players buying into the "team first" motto.

First Responders gets enough shots on net, but fails to capitalize on offense, only scoring one goal as their offense goes dormant, as they extend their losing streak to two games.

Under the Radar Ron Aquino, aka the "flyin Hawaiian", breaks out on offense with a 1-goal, 2-assist performance.

Rookie Mike Braga is starting to find his game on offense, as he scores his first-ever goal playing in the league, while setting up another

Once Mike gets his legs and game going, he could surprise as one of the better players in the league

J R Liwanag has his running game going that pays off scoring his first goal of the season

Sorry Naz but yes Jim Barber scored his first goal of the season on your watch as referee, answering your ongoing question "what did Jimmy do out there?"

Ray Nickerson scored his team's only goal

Goalie Scott Rosato stops 35 out of 36 shots faced, making multiple timely saves when needed by his team, and is starting to settle in as a key part of his team's chances this season.
